THE CARELESS WORD.

'Twas but a word, a careless word, As thistle down it seemed so light; It paused a moment in the air, Then onward winged its flight.

Another lip caught up the word.

And breathed it with a hearty sneer It gathered weight as on it sped, That careless word in its career,

Then rumor caught the flying word, And busy gozsip gave it weight; Until that little word became A vehicle of angry bate.

And then that word was winged with fire, Its mission was a thing of pain; Fer soon it fell like lava drops Upon a wildly tortured brain.

And then another page of life, With burning, scalding tears was blurred; A load of care was beavier made, Its added weight, that careless word.

That careless word, oh! how it scorohed A fainting bleeding, quivering heart! Twas like a hungry fire, that searched Through every tender vital part.

How wildly throbbed that aching heart! Deep agony its fountain stirred; It calmed, but bitter askes mark The pathway of that careless word.
